

Be Inspired, Become A Member

Mill Grove inspired John James Audubon to change the way Americans look at birds and nature. Now, the John James Audubon Center at Mill Grove (JJAC), along with our partners the Valley Forge Audubon Chapter, invites you and your family to celebrate Audubon's legacy of art, science and conservation throughout the year.

Become a member and take full advantage of the JJAC's fun, educational and family-oriented resources, including more than 5 miles of walking trails, one of America's largest collections of Audubon works, art and nature education classes, birding workshops and other great programs.

By joining the JJAC, you'll also automatically become a member of the National Audubon Society and its local chapter, the Valley Forge Audubon Society.

Membership not only gives you and your family great year-round activities, but it also protects and preserves one of this community's great national treasures.
